STANDARDS OF REVIEW FOR ALL VARIANCES

The Applicant must address the request for which the situation arose by responding to each statement under the most applicable set of criteria: "Undue Hardship" or "Practical Difficulty." This means that a variance shall be granted only where there is a preponderance of evidence presented in the particular case. The applicant shall strive then to show that either of the following standards provides for merit for supporting the irregularity for which they are requesting an exception from the Land Development Code.

Undue Hardship:

- (1) The particular physical surroundings, shape, topographical condition, or other physical or environmental condition of the specific property involved would result in a particular hardship upon the owner, as distinguished from a mere inconvenience, if the regulations were carried out literally; and
- (2) The conditions upon which the request for a variance is based are unique to the parcel and would not be generally applicable to other property within the vicinity; and
- (3) That the special conditions or circumstances do not result from the deliberate actions of the applicant or property owner of the subject property to establish a use or structure which is not otherwise consistent with this Code; and
- (4) That the granting of the variance will not confer on the applicant or the property owner of the subject property any special privilege that is denied by the Code to other similarly situated lands, buildings, or structures in the same zoning district; and
- (5) The granting of the variance will not be detrimental to the public welfare or injurious to other property or improvements in the vicinity; and
- (6) The proposed variance will not substantially increase the congestion in the public streets, or increase the danger of fire, or endanger the public safety, or substantially diminish or impair property values within the vicinity.

Practical Difficulty:

- (1) The variance shall not be substantial in relation to what is required by the Code; and
- (2) The approval of the variance will be compatible with development patterns, and whether a substantial change will be produced in the character of the neighborhood; and
- (3) The essential character of the neighborhood would be preserved; and
- (4) The variance can be approved without causing substantial detriment to adjoining properties; and
- (5) The request is due to unique circumstances of the property, the property owner, and/or the applicant which would render conformity with the strict requirements of the Code unnecessarily burdensome; and
- (6) The special conditions and circumstances which exist are the result of the actions beyond the control of the applicant; and
- (7) The difficulty can not be obviated by some method feasible for the applicant to pursue other than by a variance; and
- (8) In view of the manner in which the difficulty arose, the interest of justice will be served by allowing the variance.
